B/ORDERS IN MOTION

CURRENT CHALLENGES AND FUTURE PERSPECTIVES

About this Conference

In 2018, the Viadrina Center B/ORDERS IN MOTION celebrates its fifth anniversary as a host and hub for b/order-related research with an international conference. With this conference, we offer a platform to consider current challenges and future perspectives of Border and Boundary Studies. B/ORDERS IN MOTION outlines a conceptual perspective and a heuristic research agenda: The conceptual perspective emphasizes a volatile but inevitable interdependence of dynamic bordering practices which both rest on and are constitutive for past and present political, legal, economic, societal, and cultural orders. As a heuristic research agenda, B/ORDERS IN MOTION invites varying disciplines to integrate the research perspective 'from the border' as an innovative and prolific approach. In a world of different speeds, complex overlaps of structures, fragmentations and pluralization of temporal horizons, as well as new processes of differentiation and heterogeneities, the theme of B/ORDERS IN MOTION has advanced to encompass both an existential societal challenge and a fundamental question of the humanities that is a key to the future.

Emanating from completed and ongoing research at the Viadrina Center B/ORDERS IN MOTION as well as from current and future-oriented developments within border and boundary studies, the conference offers space for exchange and for the enhancement of conceptual and theoretical approaches and their application in empirical research.

The panels are arranged into four topical streams:

- Stream A: Un/Making Borders and Boundaries
- Stream B: Borderless Labor – Labor across Borders
- Stream C: Migrating Borders & Boundaries
- Stream D: Territorial Borders: The Institutionalization of Crossings.

Additionally, the questions of current challenges and future perspectives of the B/ORDERS IN MOTION research agenda will be discussed at two round tables. The contributions of international and Viadrina-based researchers will add to an appraisal of ongoing and completed research projects hosted by the Viadrina Center B/ORDERS IN MOTION while exploring future directions in b/order-related research.

The Viadrina Center B/ORDERS IN MOTION

is a central research institution of the European University Viadrina. It offers a space for interdisciplinary research on the dynamic interrelationships between the drawing of borders and the construction of orders in Europe and its global contexts. The Center's work is rooted in the idea that any form of social order emanates from processes of boundary-drawing and that in borders and boundaries, orders become discernible. Because of their dynamic interrelationships, orders as well as boundaries are constantly "in motion". Starting from this proposition, the Center's research aims to shed light upon the drawing, dissolution, and repositioning of borders and boundaries as well as on the (social) construction of orders through these processes. Therefore, it encourages and supports innovative academic accounts about the drawing of borders and boundaries and about their social relevance from diverse perspectives.

As a joint project undertaken by all three faculties, the Viadrina Center B/ORDERS IN MOTION brings together internationally established research priorities of the European University Viadrina and deepens transdisciplinary perspectives. Founded in May 2013, the Center takes on the founding mission of the European University Viadrina, which was opened in 1991 at the German-Polish border with the goals of promoting internationality and interdisciplinarity, contributing to the development of the region on both sides of the Oder River, supporting German-Polish cooperation, and giving a fresh impetus to pan-European integration. The Viadrina Center B/ORDERS IN MOTION deepens and extends the university's founding idea to the research of spatial, temporal and social b/orders. With this specific thematic focus, it reinforces the development of the Viadrina's profile as a small elite university on the edge of a major metropolitan region.

The research institution has since been expanded into a center for international border research through interdisciplinary research projects, the targeted promotion of early career scholars, cooperation with both national and international partners, and the establishment of the digital scientific platform B/ORDER STUDIES. The Center is headed by Prof. Dr. Claudia Weber (Professor of European Contemporary History) and coordinated by Dr. Carolin Leutloff-Grandits (Scientific Coordinator for Border Research) and Dr. Andrea Meissner (Scientific Manager).
